FAMILY BOOK NEWS; From Robin Jones

I am pleased to announce that the long-awaited Weyerbacher book publication date is nearing! As I write this letter in early April my progress is as follows: My database including about 13,800 names is complete. However, please continue to update me on births, marriages, deaths etc. as I will be the caretaker of a living document long after this book has been published by early autumn 2010. Please see our website weyerbacher.net for purchase details as they become available.

My wife Lisa who has an extensive professional resume which fortunately includes textbook editor and designer, is assisting me in adding photos, documents, narrative and history stories, the latter contributed by Terry Lee. It is our intention to publish one hard-covered volume, priced reasonably.

Without going into great detail, this has been an 80yr. project beginning with my 2 x Great Grandmother Sarah Amelia and then on to her daughter Lily Weirbach and her dedicated friend Warren Wirebach. It should be noted that MANY other people have dutifully contributed to Warren's library over the past 40+ years. And in my few years working on the book, I have corresponded with many more who have been quite enthusiastically gracious in helping me fill in the blanks and extending their family lines. I appreciate your correspondence and help more than you'll ever know. I am proud to have been part of this family project. Thanks and as always please keep in touch!

Sincerely
Robin Jones, Secretary
